

Inbound Study Abroad and Exchange students

Postgraduate module list | Autumn 2025

Subject to change and demand. Last updated on 20/02/2025.

Instructions

Choose your modules carefully

- Please read the module specification for each module you're interested in carefully. A "module specification" is a detailed description of a module's content, readings, learning outcomes, teaching approaches, and assessment methods. There's a link to module specifications at the top of each subject area.
- You must discuss the module options available with your academic advisor and/or international office at your home institution. It's your responsibility to:
 - Read module specifications carefully and assess, together with your academic advisor, whether a module is suitable for your academic path.
 - Check with your home institution how many credits you must take while at Regent's and ensure you're enrolled in the correct credit load.
- Bear in mind that you're not allowed to try out a module to see if you like it. The timetabling process is a complex procedure and, once you're assigned to a module, it's not possible to reassign you to a different one (unless there's a valid academic reason to do so). Please see the "Changes to your module choices" section for a list of acceptable academic reasons.
- You shouldn't choose modules that you've already studied or are currently studying.

Which courses are available for me to choose from?

- All modules listed in the tables below are open to study abroad and exchange students. All modules are taught as part of Regent's main degree programmes and have been approved by the relevant Directors of Content at Regent's.
- Modules are subject to change and demand every term. If you've chosen a module that's been cancelled and we're unable to allocate you to your alternative choices, you'll be informed and will need to choose an alternative module.
- For some modules, you'll need to meet pre-requisites or have prior knowledge of the subject. Modules with pre-requisites are marked with an asterisk (*). Check the module specification carefully and consult with your academic advisor (and the International Partnerships Team at Regent's if necessary).
- The maximum credit load you can sign up for is 80 UK credits (40 ECTS). However, for a good study-life balance, we recommend a credit load of up to 60 UK credits (30 ECTS).

- You're allowed to register for modules across all programmes. However, you're more likely to avoid timetable clashes if you pick modules from within the same programme.

Timetable clashes and modules not running

- We cannot guarantee that you'll be given your first choices. This is due to timetable clashes (especially across programmes) and closed classes.
- You must indicate at least one approved alternative on your online application for every first-choice module. For example, if you need to take 25 ECTS, you should note down as many first choices as needed to reach 25 ECTS, and as many alternative choices to reach 25 ECTS.
- You may be given any of your alternative module choices (in order of preference) if your first choices are not available.
- You're more likely to avoid timetable clashes if you pick modules from within the same programme.

Changes to your module choices

- Once you've submitted your module selections, the International Partnerships Team passes your choices on to the Registry, who will schedule you into classes and create your timetable.
- The modules you select in your application are considered your final choices and you cannot make any changes to them unless there is a valid academic reason. This includes scenarios such as:
 - Not being able to graduate without a specific module.
 - Credits for a particular module can't be transferred back to your home university.
 - Not being able to come to Regent's unless you take a specific module.
- If you need to change your modules for an academic reason, you can do so as the beginning of the term approaches. Any change requests will need to be supported by a written confirmation from your home university or academic advisor.

Final timetable

- You'll be able to view your timetable after completing your full registration during Induction Week.

- In case we're unable to meet your required credit load with the choices you provided, we'll be in touch with you directly prior to your arrival to ask for additional module selections.
- In case we are unable to meet your required credit load with the choices you provided, we will be in touch with you directly prior to your arrival to ask for additional choices.

By submitting your module choices as part of your application, you confirm that you've read and understood the above.

Any questions?

- Any questions should be directed to the International Partnerships Team (studyabroad@regents.ac.uk).
- Please quote your full name, name of your home institution and Regent's ID number (if you already have one) so we can advise swiftly.
